Possible B2 answers: Notice how each response gives a clear idea and support.

1. What was the last book you read? Tell me about it.

Example: The last book I read was The Little Prince. Its story about a traveller meeting unusual characters made me think about friendship and the things adults sometimes forget.

2. When was the last time you ate too much?

Example: I last ate too much at my cousin's birthday party two weeks ago. I tried every dessert, then regretted it because I felt uncomfortable for the rest of the evening.

3. When was the last time you got lost?

Example: I last got lost on Saturday while looking for a friend's new flat. I took the wrong turning, so I called her and asked her to describe the nearest landmark.

4. When was the last time you got sick?

Example: I was last sick in January, when I had a cold and missed two days of work. It wasn't serious, but I was relieved when my energy returned.

5. When was the last time you lost your temper?

Example: I last lost my temper yesterday when my brother borrowed my bike without asking. I apologised for shouting, but explained that he needed to check with me first.

6. When was the last time you felt really happy?

Example: I last felt really happy on Sunday, when an old friend came to visit. We hadn't met for months, so even a simple walk together felt special.

7. When was the last time you made a mistake?

Example: I made a mistake this morning by sending an email to the wrong colleague. I apologised and sent it to the right person, then started checking names more carefully.

8. When was the last time you screamed?

Example: I last screamed a month ago when a balloon burst beside me at a party. Everyone laughed, including me, once I realised what had happened.
